

TOEFL & IELTS
www.easenglish.net

My 5 Year Plan

by Smart Boy

I have a huge enthusiasm for life. For adventure. For love. For learning.

One aspect of life I've found helpful in attaining goals & accomplishing adventures is to organize a 5 year plan. I first developed one in my younger years as I was moving through elementary school. At the time, my plans were remedial. Graduate the 8th grade, practice piano, etc...All worthy tasks for a growing 12 year old.

So, I give you – my 5 year plan. It contains a mixture of personal & business life and portrays the goals I'd like to accomplish in my coming years. Hopefully by seeing my 5 year plan – it will ignite the flames in your life – and lead you to developing your own goals.

Years 1 & 2 – Mission

I just recently received my LDS Mission call to the Colorado Denver North mission. I'll be leaving on January 13th, 2010 for a two year period in which I'll serve the people of Northern Denver, Wyoming & Nebraska. I'm incredibly excited, and can't wait to experience some new chapters in my life.

My girlfriend and I will be marrying once I arrive back home in two years time. She'll be joining me on all my adventures. Especially since she's the one helping me come up with many of these plans.

Year 3 – Schooling & World Travel

When I return from my mission in two years – I'll be immediately enrolling in an independent study program with Brigham Young University. This will allow me to spend a year working on my BA, while still giving me the flexibility of travel. During this year (after marrying) .extended stay living. My plan is to spend this year and live in a few different locations around the world for a few months each. Cairns, Australia

- Tuscany, Italy
- Buenos Aires, Argentina
- Anchorage, Alaska

During this year I'll also be blogging heavily & developing client websites – once again. Sadly, you'll be stuck with me (once again) for some more crazy blog posts.

Year 4 – More Schooling

During this fourth year I'll be relocating to the USA, and finishing my Bachelors degree at a “brick-and-mortar” college.

Year 5 – Medical School

Upon completion of undergraduate study – this will be the year when I take up medical school. It's been a longtime dream of mine in pursuing the field of Neurosurgery. It's my plan to continue blogging and embarking on web development throughout my entire college career – and hopefully into old age and beyond. Technology has always held a spark in my imagination & creativity.

Conclusion

Life cannot be planned perfectly. Hardships are thrown our way, and we'll experience road-bumps. The important thing to remember is that we never let go of our dreams. Aim high, work hard – and accomplish what you've set out to do.

Comment :

Please Pay attention to the Tense of the verb and the way we talk about our Plans.